

Dear Sirs,

I believe that any attempt to force American internet companies to weaken their products in order to conform to this unnecessary regulation will place our companies and our economy at a distinct disadvantage when competing in the world market. We should be supporting innovation and growth not hamstringing it with more big government.

Thank you